Rukkila's retirement ends era

Drug dealing wasn't as prevalent when Romulus Deputy Chief Leonard Rukkila joined the Michigan State Police in 1957.

Rukkila is retiring after 34 years on the police force.

Looking back on his career, Rukkila, 62, a former resident of the Upper Peninsula, sees a drastic change in the precinct from when he first joined.

"There were mostly traffic problems and a few breaking-and-entering cases," Rukkila said. "In the last five to six years, a lot of narcotic incidents increased which you never had when I started."

When Rukkila began his career with the state police, he said there were 670 troopers. Now there are about 2,400 state troopers.

I think I had a great career. I have no regrets. These was a lot of transferring to different areas, but the family accepted it and I enjoyed it.

— Leonard Rukkila
Deputy chief

"Today, there is more modern equipment from when I started. The public also gets more involved with incidents," Rukkila said.

"I left the Ypsilanti state police post in 1981 when I was hired at the Romulus precinct," Rukkila said.

Rukkila went up through the ranks while working in Romulus. In 1984, he became a lieutenant and was promoted to deputy chief in 1986.

"I think I had a great career," Rukkila said. "I have no regrets. There was a lot of transferring to different areas, but the family accepted it and I enjoyed it."

Education beyond high school is needed to become a police officer in the 1990s, Rukkila said.

"The more experience the better. I recommend for anyone interested in joining the police force to go to college and work their way up to an education in law enforcement," Rukkila said.

Concerning women entering the police force, Rukkila said he never had a problem working with the opposite sex.

"I think women should join," Rukkila said. "There are women joining all the time. Women police officers do an excellent job, especially with the DARE programs."

Rukkila has been married to Marcy for 42 years. He has five children and 11 grandchildren. Plans to move a little closer to the Upper Peninsula could be in the making for next year, Rukkila said.

The last day for Rukkila as deputy chief is Jan. 4.

Committee appoints 2 councilmembers

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Two Romulus councilmembers were recently appointed to an urban design advisory committee.

Councilman Fred Junior Block and Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear will be working with the Tax Increment Finance Authority and McKenna Associates, a Farmington Hills-based architectural firm, to develop urban design standards and guidelines for the Wick Road development project.

The group will meet about three to four times in the next six months, according to Dennis Oaks, director of community development for Romulus.

"The results of the study will include an urban design concept plan, which would be implemented by the planning commission and TIFA through the zoning ordinance and development guidelines," Oaks said.

Romulus will be confronted with more than $2 billion of private investment within the next 10 to 15 years as part of the 1600-acre Metro Center Development area project.

Metro Center is being envisioned as a "city within a city," according to McKenna Associates.

"Special efforts will be required to ensure a pleasing image, quality character and intensity of urban and international scale are created," McKenna Associates said.

"The completed urban design guidelines will include illustrations, text and a process for design review. With these guidelines in place, the city will have an important tool for achieving a desirable, attractive, cohesive and satisfying environment in the Metro Center Development area, equal to its potential."

Seven tasks are listed within the design standards and guidelines.

The first task is project initiation which involves meeting with TIFA and city staff to prepare a work schedule which will include meeting dates, project milestones and to establish feedback and review processes.

The second task is design options research. McKenna Associates will research ways other new, master-planned developments or cities have evolved, which includes new centers in suburban areas.

The third task is review and evaluation, which involves the review and evaluation of existing regulations and other documentation relating to design features and development controls affecting the Metro Center Development area.

McKenna Associates will review a number of ordinances and city records including the zoning ordinance, sign ordinance, subdivision control ordinance, lot split and land division provisions, Federal Aviation Authority airport height restrictions and city master plan.

The fourth task is the statement of goals. McKenna Associates will help the city establish goals to guide the design and implementation process.

The fifth task involves the urban design concept, which will include the selection of a development pattern or theme.

The issues to be considered as part of the overall design concept are:

- Overall image of the district.
- Preferred urban form-street patterns.
- Building forms.
- Definition of spaces-plazas and open space.
- Massing of buildings.
- General architectural styles.
- Building context.
- Structural contrast.
- Landscaping and aesthetic considerations.
- Urban art.

The sixth task is the regulatory process where McKenna Associates will draft standards and regulations to accomplish the stated design objectives.

School opens its doors

Officials from the Federal Mogul Corp. in Romulus visited the Hale Creek Elementary school staff last week as an introductory presentation toward what the company will be offering the school in the near future.

Federal Mogul is a member of the Partnerships for Education, which involves 60 Romulus businesses. The program assists district schools with a goal of furthering education for all students.

"Federal Mogul educated the staff on how their company became involved with Partnerships for Education and what they can offer our school," said Lynne Mossoian, principal for Hale Creek.

Within the next two weeks, Mossoian said she will meet again with Federal Mogul officials to discuss various programs which can be implemented into the school.

"We're going to work with data on what does this picture tell us. What do we need to do to help the kids more," Mossoian said.

Federal Mogul and other Romulus businesses have been offering many services to community schools through Partnerships for Education, including tours through the companies, luncheons and various presentations.

Programs that Federal Mogul could assist Hale Creek with include Student of the Month, field trips and business information.

City seeks recycling volunteers

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus officials are looking for recycling volunteers to establish a Solid Waste Committee.

The committee will work in cooperation with the city recycling coordinator. Volunteers are needed to staff the recycling drop-off center provided to Romulus residents on the second Saturday of each month, said Jeffrey Martell, community development coordinator.

"Volunteers will assist the public with the intake of recyclables and will sort the materials at each bin," Martell said.

Officials are also establishing a Solid Waste Citizens Committee to assist in formulating a solid waste plan for the city in the next three years.

Anyone interested in either committee should call 942-7592, Martell said.

New winter recycling hours and days have been posted for Romulus.

Residents can start dropping off their recyclables from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Nov. 10.

The rest of the dates for recycling will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Dec. 8, Jan. 12, Feb. 9, March 9, April 13 and May 11.

The Romulus recycling center opened last August in the City Hall parking lot. So far, Martell said 150 cubic yards of recyclable glass, plastic, newspapers and metals have been dropped off.

A few rules and regulations for dropping off recyclables are:

- Plastic - Milk and water jugs, laundry detergent, bottles or any plastic container with "PET" or "HDPE" stamped on the bottom are accepted. The plastics must all be rinsed and the caps removed.

- Glass - Clear, brown and green food and beverage jars and bottles are accepted. All glass must be rinsed and the lids removed. The lids may be added to the aluminum and tin jars.

- Aluminum or Tin Cans - Soup, vegetable, tuna fish, jar lids, pie plates or crumpled foil are accepted. The aluminum and tin cans must be rinsed and the labels removed. These recyclables must also be flattened, if possible.

Fire at Inkster seniors complex kills a resident

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster fire officials are continuing their investigation into an early morning Sunday fire that swept the second floor of a senior citizens apartment complex and left one resident dead, four others injured and about $375,000 in structural damage in its wake.

The blaze routed some 250 residents of the three-story building at the Chateau Cherry Hill, 213 Henry Ruff Road, and claimed the life of Alfred Pace, 90.

Conference begins recycling campaign

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER

Western Wayne County communities will soon display the message, "Reduce, reuse and recycle," on brochures, billboards and local access television programs.

Beginning Dec. 1, the Conference of Western Wayne will gear up its resource-recovery education program, according to CWW assistant director Marsha Bianconi.

"CWW board members have completed their personalized introductions to the recycling video, and it is being edited now. At the end of the video, information that is specific to each of the 18 individual communities will be inserted. This information will identify the

Crowds flock to airport

Officials at Detroit Metropolitan Airport are warning travelers of greater-than-normal crowds this holiday week.

"The Wednesday before Thanksgiving and the Sunday after are traditionally the two heaviest travel days of the year," writes Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara in a press release. "The parking lots and terminal curb fronts will be particularly busy."

An informal survey of the airlines serving Metro indicates most airlines will have passenger traffic similar to Thanksgiving 1989, but two airlines expect slight increases over last year.

McNamara recommends that Wednesday and Sunday travelers plan to arrive at the airport one-and-one-half hours before their flight departure time. Even when there are plenty of spaces available in the parking lots, the entrances can become congested and time-consuming lines can form. There may also be long lines at the ticket counters and security screening check points.

In order to keep traffic moving on Rogell Drive, the curb space in front of the terminal buildings will be reserved for active loading and unloading only. Anyone who leaves their vehicle to go inside can expect to have it ticketed and towed by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Call the parking hot line at (313) 942-3838 before leaving for Metro. The hot line will provide information on which lots are full and which lots are open and available.

Irene Pace, the victim's 72-year-old wife, is in temporary serious condition at Annapolis Hospital. Fire officials said she also suffered smoke inhalation and burns.

Boulanger did say "those people who suffered the most severe consequences of smoke inhalation were those who opened their doors, instead of keeping them shut."

"Any one who stepped into the hallway stepped into temperatures that reached 1,000 degrees," Boulanger said.

Boulanger added that the fire was contained to the second floor because of the structurally-sound, proper use of fire doors, and the functional smoke detectors.

"This could have been a multi-fatality fire, if it had not been for structural-soundness of the building," he said.

Rescue units and firefighters were also dispatched from neighboring Westland, Garden City, and Dearborn Heights.

Chateau Cherry Hill was built at a cost of $4.5 million from grant funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development to provide housing for senior citizens. The complex is managed and operated by the Inkster Housing Commission.

Beginning December 4, you must dial "1-313" or your long distance call will not go through.

As of December 4, if the first three digits of your phone number are listed below, you must dial "1-313" when dialing long distance within the 313 area. Otherwise, your call won't be connected. Because that's when final conversion of your neighborhood to "1-313" long distance dialing will be complete. So if you haven't already reprogrammed your speed calling, call forwarding, modem communications software and automatic dialers, you should do so immediately.

And remember, local and zone calls are still seven digits. Not sure what's long distance and what's not? Just check the front of your Ameritech PagesPlus® White Pages directory.

Thanks for dialing "1-313." Because by doing it you're helping to create 1.5 million new phone numbers for our area. And a completed call for yourself.

Beginning December 4, if the first three digits of your phone number are listed here, you must dial "1-313" for long distance calls in the 313 area.

Committee welcomes Romulus seniors

The Grosse Ile Boar's Head Festival Committee has invited Romulus seniors to be their guests at their pageant Dec. 13.

The festival will include a bass ensemble, hand bells, bagpipes, organ, Harpsicord, singers, dancers, a jester and a Christmas story.

More than 100 voices will be in the choir.

Reservations and payment of $2 for transportation will be accepted until Nov. 19.

For more information, stop by the center at 36515 Bibbins Road or call 942-6852.

Pending legislation to shut down off-rovers

Realizing that many of the 700,000 hunters that roam Michigan in November use off-road vehicles, state House Bill 4979 seeks to shut down 95 percent of the forest road system on state land to sportsmen and other ORV users, according to the Michigan Motorcycle Dealer's Association.

Under its provisions, the legislation would restrict the use of ORVs in 432 miles of forest roads.

In a press release, MMDA President Ron Sangster said: "It's ironic this should pass out of committee just before the start of firearm deer season, since sportsmen are one of the groups who will be hit hardest...Why pass a law that makes (hunters) second-class citizens?"

Michigan has more than 200,000 ORVs registered in the state, according to Sangster.

Chamber seeks nominees

The Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce is seeking nominations for "Romulus Person of the Year."

If you know of anyone who you would like to nominate, forms can be obtained at the chamber office, 31200 Industrial Expressway, or by calling 326-4290.

Deputy chief retires

Deputy Chief Leonard Rukilla will retire in January (see related story on Page 1A).

It will cost the city between $4,000 to $6,000 to replace him, according to police department officials.

The money will be spent on implementing an assessment center test conducted by Epco Inc. in Troy.

"The assessment center method is the best tool available to select a person for a leadership position within a police department," police Chief Fred Dansby said in a memo to councilmembers Monday night. "In order to be effective, an organization must have leadership and personnel skills that match the needs of the organization. The assessment center method does that."

Super 8 Motel is honored

Super 8 Motel in Romulus was awarded the Certificate of Excellence for the first three quarters of 1990.

The motel, located at 9863 Middle Belt Road, is one of a few of the 762 motels within the national chain to receive the award.

Garden Nursing Center Inc. officials are looking for volunteers to help with a variety of activities which includes birthday parties, field trips and making crafts. Anyone interested should phone Activities Director Laura Jameson at 326-6600.

Doug Ward of IFS/Colgate-Palmolive discusses a fund-raising program with Romulus Junior High students Friday. The money collected from the fund-raiser will help pay for school activities, assemblies and an honors banquet.

Students benefit from business

Cory Elementary School students participated in an assembly Friday to promote educational awareness outside the classroom.

Distinguished guests honored at the rally included David Rossman, general manager for Detroit Metropolitan Airport Marriott, and Wendy Dixon, branch manager for Security Bank and Trust.

About 60 businesses in Romulus help various city community schools with a number of programs, with the goal to further education for all students.

"The assembly was to help the students become more aware of Partnerships for Education," said Phyllis Adkins, Cory Elementary School principal. "The Marriott sponsors etiquette month luncheons for the class that shows excellence in attendance as well as improvements in other areas."

Both businesses provide field trips for the students and presentations which inform them on business items such as how to write a check.

Rossman and Dixon were entertained by the elementary choir, band and a rap show by the students.

"We presented the Security Bank and Trust and Marriott with art work from the students. We also gave them a number of letters," Adkins said. "These two sponsors are truly partners in education who really open the doors for the students."

Although Friday was the official kick-off for Partnerships for Education to work with the school, Rossman said he's been assisting Cory since January.

"We've been participating with field trips and the Student-of-the-Month program," Rossman said. "With the student of the month program, we give out fast-food coupons. They have about 20 students honored each month."

For the top student in the class, Rossman said Marriott offers dinner for three.

Besides student of the month, Rossman said the Class-of-the-Month award from Marriott is interesting.

"Dumping fees at the River-view Municipal Landfill have doubled, so recycling plays an important part in reducing our costs. By recycling, we not only save taxpayers' money, but we save our environment, too," Martell said.

Romulus made an agreement with BestWay Recycling Inc. and Nelson Paper Co. to provide the collection bins and dumping rights at their plants. Both are donating their efforts to the city, Martell said.

In the near future, Romulus, in conjunction with the Conference of Western Wayne, will be addressing different community groups with a recycling presentation. The presentation will be funded by a State of Michigan recycling grant.

The Romulus Junior High fundraiser took off with great speed Friday.

"The goal is to raise money for the parents' club," said Bob LaChance, director of Romulus Junior High activities. "The funds will allow the parents' group to have honors banquets for the students and various assemblies."

Last year, the school raised about $3,000. This year, there really isn't a set goal school officials are trying to meet, LaChance said.

"Usually we start this fundraiser in September. This year, we're a little late so we didn't set an amount," LaChance said.

The brochure offers Christmas wrapping, stuffed animals and jewelry. LaChance said the school didn't want the children to go around the neighborhoods peddling brochures because it would be too dangerous.

"Students are encouraged to ask friends and family members to buy the Christmas items. We don't want them going door to door," LaChance said.

Besides having enough funds for special banquets and assemblies, students also have the opportunity to win small and big prizes for trying to help with the fund-raiser.

"Every kid that sells an item from the brochure whose in the seventh grade gets a bulldog pin," LaChance said. "Eighth-graders will get a pin which has the year they graduate."

Big prizes such as a compact disc player and speakers or a small portable television were donated by the corporation sponsoring the brochure, Institutional Financing Services in Calif.

"For some of the medium prizes, a student has to sell 19 items from the brochure. The big prizes require the student to sell 125 items. If they don't want the prize, they can get the cash equivalent," LaChance said.

Teachers will be assisting the students with the fundraiser by creating an advisory group. Each advisory group will have a goal to reach, and if the class meets the goal, each student in the class can pick out an item from the catalog.

The fundraiser will end Nov. 26, which is when all the orders are due.

Wayne police, management cooperate to fight crime

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

The Wayne Public Safety Department is working hand-in-hand with the management team from Hickory Hollow to try and ward off area drug traffic.

"We're setting up meetings with the board of directors," said John Colligan, Wayne police deputy director. "We're going to try and set up programs for the residents which includes the neighborhood watch program."

At a recent Wayne council meeting, Hickory Hollow attorney Carl G. Becker asked councilmembers to turn street supervision of the housing complex to the Wayne County Sheriff Department for six months in order to try and push out drug dealers.

Tracie Clemenz, site manager for Hickory Hollow, said in a letter to Wayne police: "The board of directors and management of Hickory Hollow have expressed concern over the lack of patrol officers in the complex."

Wayne police do patrol the streets, according to Fred Stafford, public safety director. Officers who patrol the area are not always in uniform or in marked police cars, Stafford said.

"The police said they patrol all the time and never get any residents calling," Clemenz said. "The residents said they call the police all the time. I'm in the middle trying to reach a solution."

The major problems at Hickory Hollow include loitering and outsiders coming into the complex to sell drugs, Clemenz said.

"We had a shooting here this weekend," Clemenz said. "It wasn't a fatal shooting, but some guns were found and shots were heard. We're trying to get the kids to stop dealing drugs in the area."

Clemenz is going to set up an annual meeting with the residents to order to find some answers to the problems. It's going to take a lot of work for the new management team which started last January to make some ground, according to Clemenz.

"There are so many things that need to be done. We're trying to get a gate house put in. About six months, we should see a difference," Clemenz said.

Besides setting up meetings with management and establishing a neighborhood watch program, Clemenz recently started a newsletter for residents.

"Fire prevention and safety has to be taught," Clemenz said. "Residents said there was a lack of communication with the former management team."

One resident, who wished to remain anonymous, can already see the improvements. Drug trafficking and loitering have gone down in the last year, according to the resident.

"With the new management, everything has changed. The drug dealing has gone down quite a bit," the resident said.

Clemenz will be meeting with the Wayne Public Safety Department on a regular basis as a start toward initiating the new programs.

How to take the "Bah Humbug!" out of the holidays

By Jaime Ayala, M.D.

Trim the turkey! Deck the halls! Joy to the world!???

Sometimes the holidays can fill us with mixed emotions. Thanksgiving, Christmas, and the New Year are supposed to be joyful times, full of promise, family, friends, and happiness. But often, the reality of the holidays is quite different. Planning parties, preparing for visiting family members, battling the shopping mall crowds, and balancing the check books can make us feel stressed and even a little bit empty at the time of year when we are told we should feel "joy."

Here are some things you can do to take the "Bah Humbug" out of the holidays.

Don't let financial problems get you down

Don't feel bad if financial difficulties won't allow you to buy expensive presents this year. There are many ways you can show your friends and family that you love them without spending a lot of money. Bake cookies, make home-made cards, write poems or letters, send photographs. Most importantly, don't equate gift-giving with love.

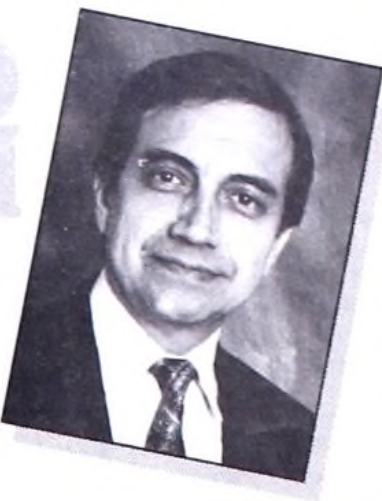

Recognize that the holidays may be different this year

If a tragedy has occurred over the past year, such as death or divorce, don't deny the fact that the holidays will be different. The day will be easier to manage if you're honest with yourself and prepare for a not-so-wonderful holiday. Recognize that the day will be different this year, but focus on the fact that it will be better next year.

In cases of divorce, don't neglect your parents. Grandparents can serve as a "bridge" for children while the parents are going through difficult emotions.

A few other tips...

- Encourage communication between children and their grandparents to make the holidays more meaningful. Have the grandparents reminisce about past holidays, or reintroduce an old tradition.
- Diet after the holidays. Don't try to lose weight in November or December.
- Schedule outings with family and friends. Visit a cider mill or Christmas tree farm, or take a "Christmas light tour" around the city.
- Find some magic in the holidays through children. Encourage kids to write letters to Santa, both before Christmas with a wish list, and after Christmas with a thank-you letter.
- Don't let minor problems spoil the holidays. Try to deal with them after January 1st.

Although Wayne County has the legal authority to regulate air-

MADD and Michigan law enforcement agencies want you to "tie one on" this holiday season. But let's change the meaning. Tie a bright red ribbon on your door handle, antenna or outside mirror. Let your car serve as a visual sign that you want to stop drunk driving in Michigan.

Local mothers unite to fight drinking and driving

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Mark Totten was quietly walking on a sidewalk off Telegraph Road in Taylor on Dec. 5, 1987.

Suddenly and out of nowhere,

Conference protests proposed legislation

Members of the Conference of Western Wayne raised their voices to protest federal legislation that would have taken the right of local communities to regulate airport noise.

Senate Bill 3094, which would have pre-empted local authority in the airport planning and noise mitigation process, was not passed in the last congressional session. Although CWW members were pleased that the new ruling was not adopted, they plan to continue to monitor proposed legislation so that further input can be made if a similar bill is introduced.

The CWW Committee on Airport Issues sent letters to the Federal Public Works and Transportation Committee and senators involved in the decision-making process.

Of particular concern to the a car driven by a 25-year-old woman skidded off the road and careened into him.

He died instantly.

Medical reports later concluded the woman had been drinking before the accident.

"Ever since then, I've been very angry," said Vickie Totten, Mark's mother. "It's a sudden, senseless and violent tragedy to have someone you love stolen from you."

Instead of sitting around and thinking about her 30-year-old son's death, Vickie went searching for answers. She found them in Mothers Against Drunk Drivers.

"It helps because you can share your feelings, and by knowing that someone else has experienced what you have takes away that feeling of helplessness," she said.

When she first went to MADD, the service helped her to understand her loss and to make her aware of other things, like the trial of the woman who killed Mark.

"I knew that I was mad enough to ask the questions, but I couldn't remember all of the answers," she said.

When the woman who hit her son was acquitted, the grieving process began again for Vickie. She wanted her son back, but she knew that wasn't possible. She wanted the driver of the car to be punished, but that also wasn't possible.

"This made me so angry," she said. "If you were to run a stop sign, you would have to pay for it, but not when you run someone over."

There was nothing left to do until Vickie turned to MADD, once again. She knew the organization couldn't wave a magic wand and bring Mark back.

MADD was the one way she could keep a small part of her son alive.

This time around, she was the one with all of the help and understanding. But just as fast as she learned to understand, there were others waiting to be helped.

"By carrying on the message, I am making some kind of sense out of a senseless thing," she said.

As she explains the numerous ways to avoid becoming a statistic, her voice quivers. Although she speaks softly, the hurt she feels inside is sounding loud and clear.

The holidays are the time of year when the entire country focuses on the issue of drinking and driving.

For the past three years,

MADD has asked drivers to Tie One On. This refers to tying a red ribbon on the antenna of a car. That's the easy part. The hard part is the commitment you must make to not drink and drive.

"I always tell people before you tie a red ribbon onto your car, you must promise that you will not drive if you drink," she said.

In 1989, alcohol-related traffic accidents in Michigan killed 738 people, or 45.3 percent of the total 1,630 traffic fatalities.

During the 1989 Michigan 78-hour Christmas holiday, eight of 27 traffic fatalities were alcohol-related.

Nationwide during Thanksgiving 1989, and New Year's Eve, 312 of 548 traffic fatalities were alcohol-related.

Guns are killers when in wrong hands

Two local students were caught last week with guns at school. A new BB gun that is available can be as deadly as a more powerful rifle.

These are the situations of which senseless killings are made.

Guns are becoming too available these days.

Children find them in mom and dad's closet, drug addicts buy them on the streets, psychos walk into a gun store and purchase one or two.

Guns will soon outnumber people in our society, we've been told that in Detroit that is already the case.

This is a deadly state of affairs.

Stiffer regulations are needed to ensure that weapons do not fall into the hands of the wrong people. Those responsible people who want to own a gun will still be able to get one, but maybe safeguards will keep irresponsible people out of the neighborhood gun store and apply stricter penalties to those who sell guns illegally.

More importantly, children who bring guns to school must be investigated carefully. If a child is able to find mom or dad's gun and take it without being noticed, then that parent is an irresponsible gun owner and should be forced to spend time in jail.

Guest editorial Enough is enough

For the last six months or so, we in the City of Wayne have been subjected to a deceptive and scurrilous campaign to heap discredit and personal degradation on us by individuals who find fault with us. Enough is enough.

The people of Wayne deserve better than this and should be aware of certain facts concerning this destructive exercise before deciding the right or wrong of the situation. To be able to come to a reasonable and common sense conclusion in this matter and to determine the facts in the case, it seems to me that certain questions should be asked of the persons perpetrating the whole thing in the first place. So, I shall do so.

To the recall committee through its chairman:

- Is it not true, Mr. Chairman, that several years ago the City Council of Wayne granted under Michigan Law a tax abatement to you and your company? An wasn't that tax abatement for 50 percent for a period of six years?
- Is it true, Mr. Chairman, that in the period of the last several years, you and your company have failed to pay the taxes due to the City for whatever reason?
- Is it true, Mr. Chairman, that your committee's last attempt at a recall failed because of the possibility that your legal advice was bad and also because your own committee dissolved around you as they realized your methods were questionable and anti-productive?
- Is it true, Mr. Chairman, that you, as chief spokesman for your committee are afraid to appear at any forum to present the aims of your group and instead have had same legal counsel of bad advice represent you?
- Is it true, Mr. Chairman, that you and your group have cost the people of Wayne in excess of $50,000 in your attempt to discredit the city and continue to do so all in the name of "the good of the city"?
- Is it possible, Mr. Chairman, that the real reason for all of this is so that you in your infinite wisdom will be in a position down the road as an appointed official to forgive any and all personal indebtedness you may have incurred to the city and county?
- Is it possible, Mr. Chairman, that the real reason the nonsense continues is because your committee doesn't have the money to pay your legal fees and if the lawsuit presently in Wayne County Circuit Court finds technically in your committee's favor, we as individuals named in the suit would be compelled to pay out of our own pocket the fees incurred for bad advice?
- Mr. Chairman, is your committee going to deceive the people into signing the new petitions suggesting that signing them means lowering taxes or some other deceptive reason as has been rumored to have happened in the previous drive?

Mr. Chairman, I ask these questions of you publicly because you are never available at any public meetings any more and I find it very difficult to seek answers through out-of-town lawyers. Are you a phantom or a ghost? Are you afraid to represent yourself and your committee in person any more? I'm used to being asked by the people face to face concerning any issue they wish to discuss. In the supermarket when I shop, at church, at meetings and on the street I am often found talking to the people about any issue they wish to bring up. My phone number is listed and has been for the entire time I have served on the City Council. So is every other member of the Council. You are the only one who feels the need to use legal representation to contact me. Are all the people in the city wrong or is it just you, Mr. Chairman? Is it at all possible, sir, that with all of the different kinds of fertilizer that you and your committee have spread throughout our city can we conclude that your name is well and appropriately applied.

Michigan model: fact or fallacy

Facts or fallacies? Recently a political flyer contained the following information concerning the Michigan Model comprehensive health program: "The Michigan Model is another educational tool we have to prevent crime. It is a state-required part of the school curriculum for grades K-8. Eventually it will be required through high school." The flyer came from Rep. James Kosteva. According to Sen. John Engler (now governor), "The state model (Michigan Model) is available to be considered, but is not mandated. Health education is not a requirement of core curriculum."

Donald Bemis, superintendent of the Department of Education, insists that Michigan Model is about as voluntary as the draft. I can't help but agree with Rep. Kosteva that the state is indeed mandating this health program in Michigan schools. At present, there are approximately a million children participating in the Michigan Model despite numerous protests from concerned parents. It is obvious that parents were overlooked regarding the decision-making process of implementing Michigan Model in many schools. The state, school districts, and local schools appear to have made the decision on their own.

LETTERS

New Age teachings, meditation, death-and-dying issues and more are contained in the Michigan Model program. A definite wedge has been inserted between parent and child and the family unit has become the recipient of many negative teachings through this program. What one faction may call education can easily be construed to be indoctrination in the Michigan Model.

Since Michigan Model is being promoted by many factions as being voluntary, it should be relatively simple to prove. Try getting your child excused from any class utilizing this program. Insist that a law be passed allowing parents to sign their children into any class utilizing Michigan Model. If those concerned parents that are speaking up regarding Michigan Model are so few, surely the state will not object to passing such a law. Just a minimal insignificant few can't possibly make a difference. Or can they?

Home care must be addressed

The time has long since come for the federal government, as well as legislators at every level in this country, to come to terms with the crying need for a public program of long-term care based on home care.

Millions of Americans are victims of illnesses of long-term duration. The bulk of the care needed by such people is practical and supportive assistance, often described as "custodial". Costs can be staggering. The average family simply does not have the resources to pay for long-term care.

As a result, thousands of our citizens are going without the health care services they desperately need. Thousands more may be without access to these services in the near future. Currently 80 percent of the cost of all catastrophic illnesses relates to long-term care, and there is very little in the way of help from the public or private sector.

Neither public nor private insurance provides protection against the cost of long-term care. Medicare pays only for limited amounts of skilled care and home health care. Medicaid generally pays only for nursing home care and requires pauperization before eligibility can be established. Most private insurance provides limited, if any, coverage for long-term care in the home or nursing home. New specialized long-term care policies are expensive and have severe limitations.

The repeal of the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act (MCCA) in the 101st Congress serves to reinforce the need for long-term care legislation. Elderly groups objecting to the MCCA repeatedly pointed out that their real needs were for long-term care coverage.

Lack of coordinated long-term care benefits often results in premature or unnecessary institutionalization. Destruction of the family unit and reducing family resources to the point of destitution frequently occurs. The supportive, familiar environment of the home setting for care delivery, however, can provide a cost-effective option that may also enable stabilization of the individual's chronic conditions.

The federal government must take the lead in providing adequate coverage of long-term care needs for chronically ill children, the elderly and disabled. The foundation of this initiative should be home care.

Sue Willett

Here's a real news flash. Tomorrow is Thanksgiving and in about an hour and a half it will be Christmas.

This can't be happening. My kids don't have their Easter baskets yet, and now people expect me to make Thanksgiving dinner. As I explained to my co-workers last week, the jelly beans have turned into cement and the chocolate-covered marshmallow eggs can be used for doorstops.

I keep telling my kids that the bunny got lost in Van Buren Township but will be here just as soon as he finds an exit from Bemis Road. Somehow, I suspect they doubt me.

Now I'm going to have this to make up for at Christmas. It has occurred to me that the reason my sons are so tolerant of my dilatory performance at other holidays is they figure to use it as a lever against me during the season of giving.

They make pitiful statements like, "Oh, it's OK Mom, we know how busy you are. Don't worry about us. We understand that you just don't have time to be bothered with your only two sons in the world. Sniffle, sniffle."

Get the idea? Yep, I'm being blackmailed, pure and simple.

These two figure that they can buy themselves a bag of jelly beans and a couple of chocolate Easter bunnies, what do they care when that small investment will provide the kind of emotional leverage needed to intimidate me into purchasing a new TV or disc player at Christmas? Hey, I didn't raise any dummies.

But in the meantime, I have to come up with Thanksgiving dinner and up to now, I haven't thought about it. My loving husband has been taking me out to dinner for several years now, and when he can't find a relative to invite us, he finds a lovely restaurant to serve us turkey.

He began this tradition after the third year I prepared a 24-pound turkey for the two of us at Thanksgiving. One year he threatened to go out onto Wayne Road and flag down traffic, inviting strangers in to eat the meal for 15 I had so lovingly prepared for the two of us to consume.

That's when he decided that it would be far more cost efficient to eat out to say nothing of the weeks and weeks of leftovers his stomach would be spared.

But this year, he too, has been overcome with other concerns. My sister has had pneumonia and is therefore having a very small family dinner and our usual restaurant is booked completely. That means, I cook.

Does anyone have a recipe for stuffing utilizing jelly beans or marshmallow eggs?

Thanksgiving butterscotch pie

- 1 pre-baked 9-inch pie shell
- 1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 13-ounce can evaporated milk
- 4 large egg yolks at room temperature
- 1/4 cup unsalted butter, cut into bits
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Combine brown sugar, flour and salt in a bowl. Add enough water to the evaporated milk to measure 2 cups. In another small bowl, lightly beat the egg yolks and then whisk in 1/2 cup of the diluted milk. Whisk the yolk mixture into the dry ingredients until thoroughly blended. Whisk in the remaining diluted milk.

1990 Associated Newspapers Holiday Recipe Contest Winner

Westland baker makes cooking into an 'art'

Baking is an art form, a means of expression for Westland resident Deborah Fredericks.

She is the second-place winner in the 1990 Associated Newspapers Holiday Cookbook Contest. Fredericks' recipe for Betsy's Bluesbreakers bowled judges over.

Fredericks, who returned to her hometown via Maine this summer, has been working on a cookbook for her mother for nearly 10 years now.

She fills the book with her favorite recipes and then decorates the pages with lively ink drawings. Her ink drawings will be on sale at the P.D. Graham craft show this year.

"I am a terrible chocolate fiend, and a friend gave me the recipe (for Betsy's Bluesbreakers). It is truly sinful," Fredericks said.

She has returned to her love of baking just since she returned to Westland.

"The high altitude in Maine made baking quite difficult," she said.

She took up the drawing and decorating of her recipes when she left her profession as a custom framer. When she was diagnosed with Lupus, she could no longer handle the job.

There is no sense trying to diet at the Fredericks home this time of year. Fredericks is already preparing for her annual Christmas bake-a-thon which produces a bevy of delicious goodies that will be used as gifts and that will be eaten by husband, Mark, and son, David.

Betsy's Bluesbreakers

Second place

Melt together:
1 1/2 cups chocolate chips
1/2 cup butter
4 ounces unsweetened chocolate

In another bowl, sift together:
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Set aside.

In mixer bowl, beat together
4 eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons instant coffee crystals
2 teaspoons vanilla

Stir in melted chocolate and flour mixture. Beat well, add
2 cups chocolate chips

Stir well to evenly distribute chips in dough. Drop dough by spoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie pans. Bake at 350 degrees until tops of cookies are shiny and fissured, 6-8 minutes. They should be quite soft. Cool cookies completely before removing them from pans.

Apple Brown Betty

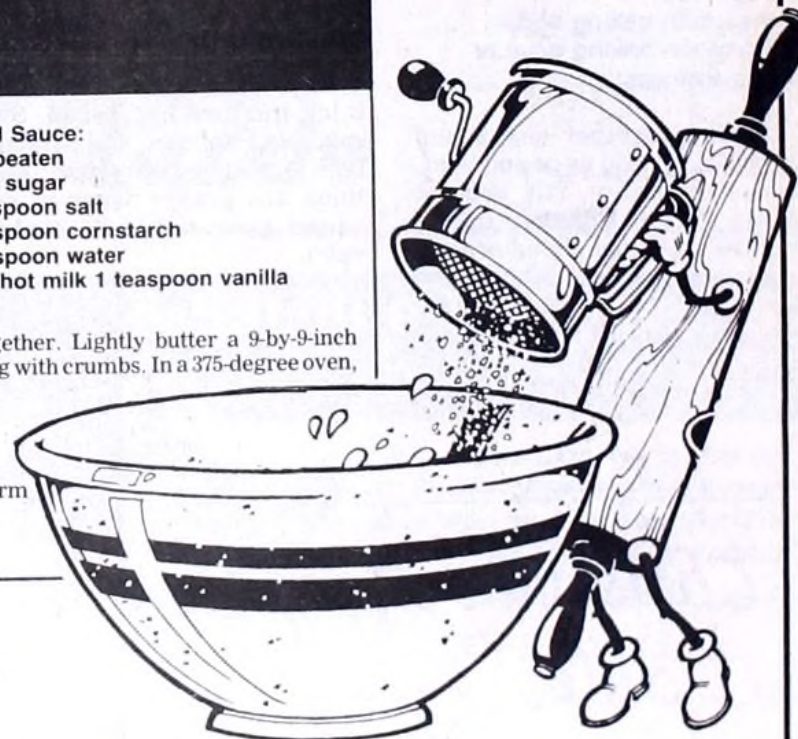

3 cups apples, pared, cored and sliced
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup melted butter
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Custard Sauce:
1 egg, beaten
1/3 cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon water
2 cups hot milk 1 teaspoon vanilla

Stir bread crumbs, butter, sugar and cinnamon together. Lightly butter a 9-by-9-inch baking dish. Layer crumbs and apples alternately, ending with crumbs. In a 375-degree oven, bake for 40 minutes. Serve warm with custard sauce.

For sauce: mix cornstarch with water to form a thick paste, stir in egg, sugar and salt. Whisk hot milk into mixture. Cook on medium heat in double boiler until thick. Add vanilla, serve warm over apple brown betty.

More recipes and more winners to come next Thursday.

Local residents submit their holiday best

The following recipes were submitted by local residents for the 1990 Associated Newspapers Holiday Recipe Contest.

Recipe submitted by Helen Rafalski of Lake City

Pink Lady Salad

1 8 oz. Philadelphia Cream Cheese
1/4 cup maraschino cherry juice

Mix thoroughly together, then add these ingredients.

2 medium size cans of fruit cocktail (drained)
1/2 cup maraschino cherries (quartered)
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1/2 cup coconut

1 small package Cool Whip

Refrigerate for several hours. Serves 8.

Recipes submitted by Joyce Miriani of Westland.

Cranberry Christmas Pie

2 cups fresh cranberries
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1/2 cup melted margarine
1/4 cup melted shortening

Grease 10-inch pie plate. Spread cranberries over bottom. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup sugar and nuts. Beat eggs well, add 1 cup sugar gradually, beat until mixed. Add flour, melted margarine and shortening to egg-sugar mixture. Beat well. Pour batter over top of cranberries. Bake at 325 degrees for 60 minutes.

Peeling Bells

2 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
6 tablespoons margarine
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon vanilla
25 maraschino cherries halved and well drained

Combine flour and baking powder. In large bowl beat butter or margarine and shortening until soft. Add sugar and beat until fluffy. Add egg, milk, rind and vanilla and beat well. Add flour mixture and beat until well mixed. Cover and chill about 30 minutes. Shape into two 8-inch rolls. Wrap and chill overnight. Cut into 1/4-inch slices. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Place cherry on bottom half of each slice for clapper. Fold in sides of slice, overlapping at top and slightly covering cherry. Pinch in sides to resemble bell. Bake at 350 degrees for 12-14 minutes. Makes about 64.

Transfer mixture to the top of a double boiler and cook over simmering water, whisking constantly, for 10 to 15 minutes or until very thick. Remove from heat and stir in butter and vanilla. Cover with a round of waxed paper placed directly on the surface and let cool for 15 minutes. Pour filling into baked pie shell and cover again with waxed paper. Let cool to room temperature and then refrigerate until well chilled, about 3 hours.

Meringue

4 large egg whites, at room temperature
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup granulated sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat the egg whites with salt and cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Gradually add the sugar and continue beating until whites are stiff and glossy. Do not overbeat or meringue will be dry. Remove waxed paper from filling and pile meringue on top, mounding in the center and spreading out to overlap the crust slightly all around. Bake in the center of the oven from 12 to 15 minutes or until meringue turns slightly golden. Chill for 3 hours before serving.

Dessert

thicken, then spread over second layer. Spread the rest of Cool Whip over third layer. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup of nuts. Dot with maraschino cherries. Keep refrigerated. Improves on standing.

Holiday Orange Cake

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cup sour cream
1 1/2 cup dates
1 1/2 cup raisins
1 whole orange with peel
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup walnuts

Cream together sugar and shortening. Add eggs and beat, add sour cream, stir and set aside. Grind together dates, raisins, nuts and sliced orange with peel. Alternate fruits and nuts for easier grinding. Add ground fruit and nuts to first mixture. Add dry ingredients, mix thoroughly. Grease a 9-by-13-inch pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes. Test with toothpick. About 15 minutes before cake is done make orange syrup.

Syrup ingredients:
1 cup orange juice
1 cup sugar

Stir orange juice and sugar together in saucepan over heat and boil for 5 minutes. When cake is done pour orange syrup over cake and let it soak in and run down sides. Let cake cool. Right before serving cake make grape sauce.

Grape sauce ingredients:
2 cups any kind grape juice
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Pour juice in saucepan, put cornstarch in bowl. Add small amount of juice to cornstarch in bowl and stir until you have a thick mixture like syrup. Stir mixture into juice and bring to boil, stirring continuously until thick like gravy. Serve warm sauce over slices of cooled cake.

Robichaud routs Monroe St. Mary's, reaches Class 'B' state finals

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The 1990 Robichaud high football team stands on the threshold of greatness. Coach Bob Yauck's football team is one victory away from winning the Class B state championship, a feat no other Robichaud football team has even come close to accomplishing.

And the Bulldogs got to the finals the hard way, by thrashing the number one-ranked team in the state, Monroe St. Mary's Catholic Central, 27-0, Saturday at Withington Stadium in the city of Jackson.

Now, only a previously unheralded team that the press corps overlooked during the regular season - Kingsford - stands between Robichaud and their first state football crown. Kingsford destroyed Wyoming Rogers, 45-27, in its semifinal test, to earn the right to meet Yauck's troops for the title.

The two will meet at 8 p.m. on Friday in the Pontiac Silverdome to decide which team is worthy of the wearing the 1990 coveted state crown.

The phenomenal Tyrone Wheatley, as he has all season long, again displayed his incredible talent against the hitherto undefeated Monroe CC team.

Wheatley, with the Monroe defense glued on him, managed to score two third-quarter touchdowns to lead the Bulldogs to a surprisingly easy win - a cakewalk - over what was considered by most the best defensive team in the state this year.

The 6-2, 210-pound senior running back picked off Monroe quarterback Brad Flint's delinquent pass at midfield and seven plays later - with Wheatley called upon on seven times - scored from five yards out. It was his first TD of the game.

And, when Robichaud quarterback Andrew Parham successfully executed the option for the two-point conversion, the Bulldogs had 21-0 lead.

With two seconds remaining

If we can play defense like we did against Catholic Central one more time, everything will be fine. Defense is going to be the key to the championship.

— Robert Yauck
Robichaud football coach

In the same quarter, Wheatley struck again. He polished off a 37-yard drive with a 12-yard touchdown run to account for the final touchdown of the game.

Wheatley's point-after attempt sailed wide of the goalposts.

Robichaud took the lead early in the game when Ralph Irwin scooped up a loose ball, jarred free by linebacker Ernie Baskin, and raced 33 yards for a touchdown five minutes into the first quarter.

Wheatley kicked the extra point, making it a 7-0 game.

However, Monroe managed to block a Wheatley punt in that quarter and recovered on the Robichaud 20. The Bulldog defense, spearheaded by linebackers Ralph Irwin, Sonny Cooper, Gary Phillips, and two-way tackle Ernie Baskin, managed to hold off the inspired Monroe offense.

The 20-yard line would be the furthest penetration by Monroe into Robichaud territory for the game.

Robichaud increased its lead with a second-quarter touchdown - a four-yard contribution by Irwin, who completed an eight-play, 53-yard drive with his run.

Wheatley's attempt for the extra point was blocked.

Wheatley must have been a very tired athlete after the game. He was called on 35 times to carry the ball, rushed for 170-yards and accounted for two touchdowns. He also intercepted Flint twice and stood out on defense.

Irwin picked up eight yards, and saw a 70-yard TD run nullified because of an illegal procedure call against his teammates.

Baskin, a senior tackle, turned in his best performance of the season. He forced two of the three Monroe turnovers and also forced ball carriers away from the center of the line.

"He was just awesome," said Yauck. "And Baskin exemplified the caliber of defense we have been playing lately. If we can do that one more time, everything will be just fine."

Kingsford twins are a threat

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

You won't find too many high school quarterbacks at 6-5, 205 pounds.

But Kingsford, a rustic community nestled in the Upper Peninsula near Iron Mountain, has one in senior Mark Calcaterra.

In fact, Coach Chris Hofer's team may have two - Mark's twin brother, Mike, is also a 200-pound-plus athlete.

However, Mike prefers the tight end slot for the Greater Northern Conference champ.

The twins have an innate system of communicating which has translated into touchdowns and victories. Kingsford boasts an 11-1 record going into the championship bowl against Robichaud Friday.

"Yes, Mike is his brother's favorite target," said Kingsford Coach Chris Hofer. "They have kept very instrumental in getting us where we are today."

Kingsford, of course, is on the verge of bringing home its first state title. Of course, Kingsford will have to beat Robichaud for it.

And, although Robichaud may not have twins in its lineup, the Bulldogs do have Tyrone Wheatley.

Hofer is the first to admit that stopping Wheatley or beating the Robichaud defense will not be easy.

"We haven't seen Robichaud play, but we know from what we read and hear that Wheatley and the team have a very explosive offense."

Robichaud jolted Monroe St. Mary's Catholic Central 27-0 in its semifinal game.

It will be the first appearance for both teams and coaches in the Silverdome.

Fact sheet

Here is the Fact Sheet for the Class B state championship football game.

Who: Robichaud High School (11-1), the Suburban Athletic Conference champ, vs. Kingsford (11-1), the Great Northern Conference champ.

At stake: The Class B state championship.

When: The game will be played 8 p.m. Friday at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Key Players: Robichaud is led by record-setting running back Tyrone Wheatley. The 6-1, 210-pound senior has scored 35 TDs this season and is seated third on the all-time scoring chart for Michigan high school football players. Robichaud also has exceptional talent in quarterback Andrew Parham and an abundance of two-way performers: tackle Ernie Baskin, fullback-linebacker Ralph Irwin, middle linebacker Sonny Cooper, Gary Phillips (OLB) and cornerback Steve Gill, all of whom have helped make this a year that Robichaud fans will not soon forget. Kingsford has plenty of scoring power in twins Mark Calcaterra, a 6-5, 205-pound senior, and Mike, a tight end, who also has a lot of muscle power. Running back Matt Flamingo is averaging 90-yards per game and, on defense.

Coaches' Comments: "They (Kingsford) are up there in the Upper Peninsula, so we don't know much about them. However, any team that reaches the state championship game has to be an excellent team," Robichaud coach Bob Yauck, completing his 21st year as head coach.

Wheatley is among the elite

After setting a smorgasbord of records at Robichaud High and in the Suburban Athletic Conference, senior running-back Tyrone Wheatley is zeroing in on some notable Michigan marks.

With his 35 touchdowns this season and 243 points, Wheatley now has compiled 475 career points, third-best point-output by a Michigan high school football player.

Only Crystal Falls' Dan Lato, who has 522 points to his credit, and Detroit Country Day grid great, Brian Stephens, who has amassed 482 points, stand above Wheatley in the all-time column.

Wheatley has a shot at second place if he can score nine more points. He would move up to second place if he did, and he would have to accomplish the feat against a strong Kingsford team in the state championship game.

Wheatley will be making his final appearance in a Robichaud grid uniform Friday night at 8 p.m. in the Pontiac Silverdome.

"Tyrone is just an amazing athlete," said Robichaud coach Bob Yauck. "The kind of athlete that a coach dreams of having in his lineup."

Wheatley is the first high school athlete to win four gold medals in track at the state finals. He accomplished that remarkable feat in April of this year when he finished first in the 100-and-200 meter dashes, the hurdles and the long jump.

Can you blame Robichaud coaches for wondering what life is going to be like without Tyrone Wheatley next year?

Tickets for finals available

There are still tickets available for the Robichaud-Kingsford game.

The two teams will meet at 8 p.m. Friday in the Pontiac Silverdome to decide the 1990 Class B state championship.

Tickets for the game are $5 and may be obtained from the central offices at the high school. Robichaud is located at 3601 Janet.

The Westwood School District is also supplying bus service to the Silverdome for those who need a ride. There is an additional $2 charge for the ride.

Tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-serve basis.

District champ

An elated Inkster High basketball team had reason to celebrate Friday night after they dethroned defending Class B state champ, Dearborn Divine Child. The Vikings avenged a loss to the Falcons in the district finals a year ago. Coach Dwight Hotchkiss and his team began their bid for a regional crown Monday night at Grosse Ile. They met Tecumseh in a first-round game. In the other bracket, New Boston Huron clashed with Riverview Gabriel Richard. The two survivors were scheduled to play last night (Nov. 21) for the regional championship. Pictured with the district plaque is Inkster junior guard Jean Braswell (5), who is flanked by teammates Monique Roberts (35), Tequan Abney (40) and Camiyah Johnson (32). Inkster cage fans may need scorecards

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster High basketball fans will probably need a scorecard to identify their players.

Coach George Thompson Jr. has lost seven players - four starters - off the team that finished second in the tough Suburban Athletic Conference, and his new recruits are relative unknowns.

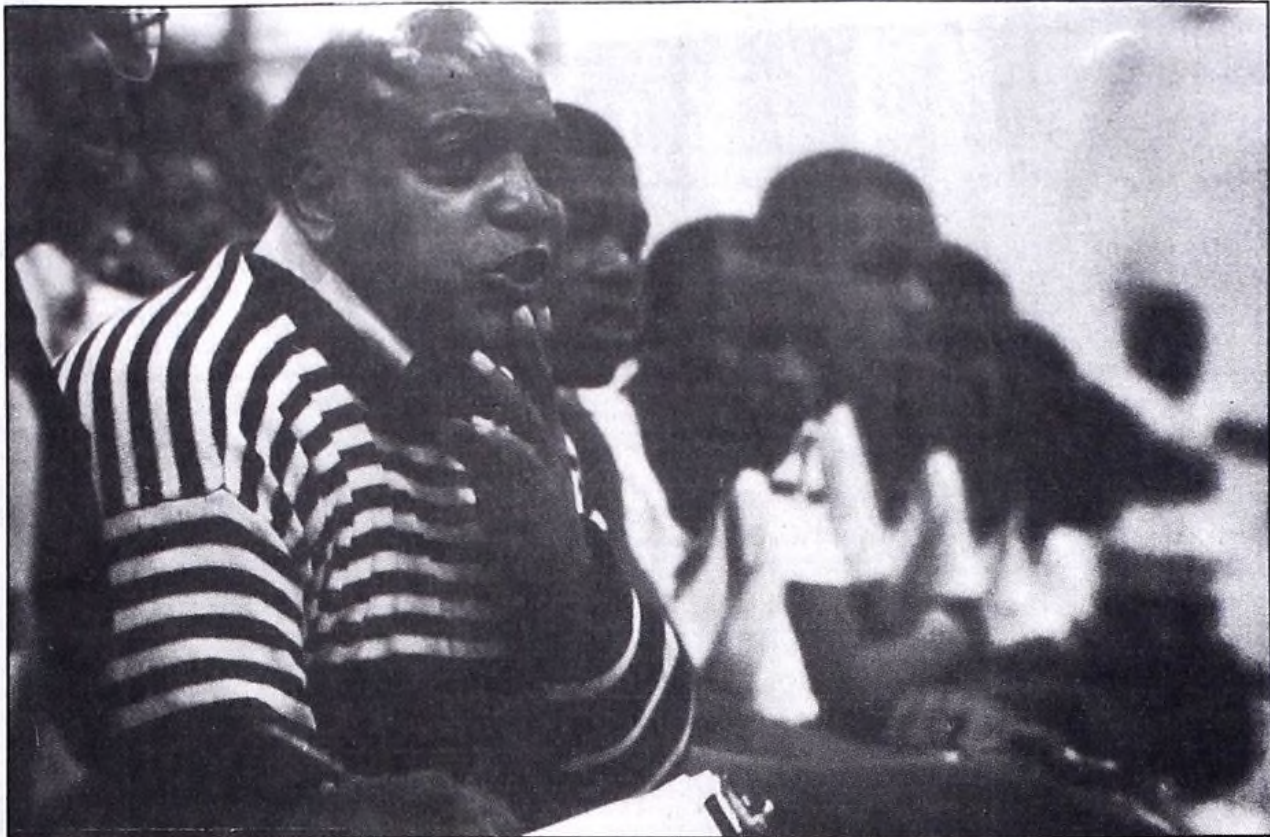

He has only one regular returning off last year's team.

And Thompson is concerned, with good reason.

The Vikings finished second to state-powerhouse Highland Park a year ago with a seasoned team and, rabid Viking fans have come to expect their team at the top, or at least a contender for the title.

That may not be the case this season.

"We have at least three pre-season, state-ranked teams like Flint Beecher, Saginaw Buena Vista, and Flat Rock on our schedule, and we have only one gifted veteran player returning. Consequently, it may turning. Consequently, it may be asking a little too much for him to carry this team."

Thompson was referring to 6-3 1/2 senior Claude Reynolds, a SAC pick a year ago, who was instrumental in helping his teammates finish with a 9-3 SAC and a respectable 17-7 record last year.

"He's a wizard on the court," said Thompson of McReynolds,

"but we don't have the experience to provide him with a supporting cast. Life is going to be tough, if some of the other kids don't come around."

Thompson, with 385 career victories and 128 losses to his credit, has spent the last 25 years coaching high school talent. He could become one of the rare coaches in the annals of Michigan high school history to reach the coveted 400-victory milestone this year.

But he's not even looking ahead - or back - at his amazing feat.

"What our goal is now is to get these kids ready for their opener. And, at this stage, we have a lot of work to do before I can say we are ready."

The Vikings will open against Class D state finalist Coldwell

Baptist of Detroit on Dec. 7.

Thompson will have a smorgasbord of young talent to look at in hopes of finding the players who will complement McReynolds. With the exception of 6-foot-5 Marcus Flie, there is no real height in the lineup. However, there is no junior tri-captain Thalamus Martin, a 6-2 shooting star that could emulate the departed All-area pick, Tyrone Orr.

McReynolds and Martin will have little difficulty finding the hoop this season. "They can shoot," says Thompson.

Also, 5-5 point guard Carlos Johnson is deadly from the three-point range, which can force Viking opponents to come after him.

Add to the quickness and firepower are players like Dewand Zirker (5-10, junior), Julian Flint (6-1, junior), and Dejuan Jones (5-10, junior), who have uncanny ability to score.

But, please note, the Viking coach stresses "that they are juniors and have little battle-line experience."

Inkster fans had their eyes glued on the likes of Orr, Marcus Huegley, Art Asberry, Jermain Jackson, Gary Pfeiffer and Jamal Poplar a year ago, and they may miss the sensational, but Thompson's teams have never been counted out of the SAC title picture in the past.

And, despite the preseason nod to give defending champ, Highland Park, or Inkster neighbor, Robichaud, the label of 'team to beat', the Vikings will be, and always have been, a power to reckon with on the hardwood.

Just ask any SAC cage coach.

All-area coming up next week

Local high school football isn't over, thanks to Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

So The Associated Newspapers Sports Staff has delayed its presentation of the traditional All-area team.

Robichaud will play Kingsford for the Class B state championship at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Pontiac Silverdome. At the conclusion of that game, the ANP staff will put the finishing touches on the All-area lineup.

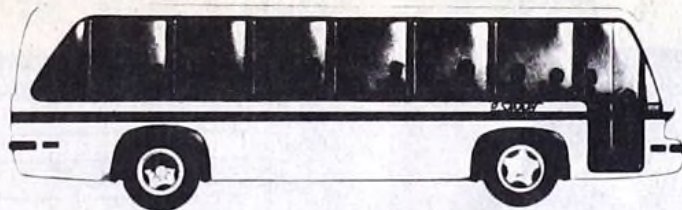

One name surely to be mentioned is Robichaud all-everything Tyrone Wheatley. Who will join him on the dream team will be published next week.

Also, local athletic directors who have not mailed or dropped off their winter sports schedules are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Please include the home telephone number of varsity coaches so they may be contacted during the season. Mail information to: Associated Newspapers, Sports Desk, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich.

For further information, please contact staff writers Tom Mooradian or Sean Kelly at 729-4000.

Trade days to be part of show

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Industry Trade Days - a sneak preview of the North American International Auto Show will be staged for the first time in the history of the show.

Industry days are scheduled for Jan. 10 and 11. As usual the show will be staged at Cobo Hall.

The idea may be new to car shows in America but not in Europe. Most European auto shows have at least one day set aside for suppliers to go through and see what is being displayed before the large crowds start to pour in, according to a spokesman for the show.

The sneak preview is being sponsored by the Detroit Auto Dealers Association. Officials hope that by adding Industry Trade Days it will contribute to the growth of the show.

Some of the suppliers are taking advantage of the two days and have scheduled sales meetings to be staged at local hotels.

More than 70 companies have already signed up to appear at the preview. In addition to having goods on display, the companies can also drum up some business while they are in town.

"Like a business, every year we look for new and better ways to expand the scope of the show," said Bob Thibodeau, chairman of the auto show.

Thibodeau hopes that the creation of trade days will increase the overall attendance of the show.

"We've long recognized the value of the supplier segment to our show and the automotive industry. We believe that within the next few years, Industry Trade Days will become a vital element of the North American International Auto Show.

During the two-day preview, suppliers will take advantage of the opportunity to showcase their products. Examples mentioned include: private showings of new capabilities and products for customers and prospects; a focus for company sales and marketing meetings; professional association meetings; as well as entertainment vehicle for customers, colleagues and guests, according to show officials.

Trade days will be staged during the last two days of media days. This will give suppliers the opportunity to be on hand to answer questions that reporters may ask.

In 1990 more than 1,300 members of the media were on hand for press days. Industry Trade Days will be the perfect vehicle for those suppliers who are making major announcements or introducing new products.

"We believe that there are many suppliers out there who recognize what our show offers and how it can be used to support their business objectives," said Gordon Stewart, co-chairman of the show.

Trade days

Parts will be the stars as Industry Trade Days becomes part of the 1991 auto show Jan. 10 and 11.

New Carquest auto shop opens locally

A new auto parts store has opened its doors in Plymouth.

Plymouth Carquest Auto Parts is located at 1102 W. Ann Arbor Road.

Carquest, a national chain, has taken over Plymouth Auto Parts, known as Garfield Auto Parts beginning in 1986.

"We have affiliated with Carquest so we could continue to provide our customers with the highest quality auto parts and services available in the marketplace today. We are all very excited about the change," said Kurt Stanley, owner of the new Plymouth Carquest.

Carquest is a national distribution network based in Terrytown, New York, designed to allow independent owners to take advantage of combined buying power to provide top quality auto parts to the market at competitive prices. With 2,500 members nationwide, and more than 125 in Michigan alone, that buying power is substantial, according to Stanley.

"My goal," Stanley said, "is to provide the best products available to my customers at competitive prices. I insist that only quality products be sold here."

Many of the parts available are packaged under the Carquest name, but are actually name-brand parts such as Moog, Maremont, Gabriel, Wagner, Standard/Blue Streak and Gates.

Nationwide warranties are also available on most of the parts sold at Carquest.
